

Expense Policy

Submitting a claim

All expense claims must be submitted within 30 days of the date the money was spent. Claims submitted after 30 days are rejected automatically by the finance system and require written approval from a director to be reopened.

Approved claims are reimbursed with the next monthly payroll run. There is no separate payment cycle for expenses.

Receipts

A receipt is required for every individual item costing 25 EUR or more. Items below 25 EUR may be claimed without a receipt, but the claim must still state the date, the amount and the business reason.

Photographs of receipts are accepted. The original paper receipt does not need to be kept once the photograph has been uploaded.

Travel

Flights must be booked through the company travel portal. Economy class is the standard for any flight under six hours. Business class may be booked for flights of six hours or more, and requires manager approval before booking.

Rail travel is preferred over flying for any journey where the total door to door time by rail is under five hours.

Meals and client entertainment

Meals while travelling on company business are reimbursed up to 45 EUR per day. Alcohol is not reimbursed under the daily meal allowance.

Client dinners are capped at 60 EUR per person including drinks. The names of everyone present and the company they represent must be listed on the claim.

What is never reimbursed

Parking fines, speeding fines and any other penalty are never reimbursed, even when incurred during company travel. Personal entertainment, gym memberships and in-flight upgrades paid at the gate are also excluded.

Questions

Anything not covered above should be asked in the finance channel before the money is spent, not after.
